The Friends of Barton Parks group was delighted that just in time for the good weather Baysgarth Park's Green Gym was opened for business. Funded by Able UK through the landfill tax credit scheme the gym has a wide variety of equipment suitable for all ages and abilities. Also included in this phase of work was the installation of a water refill station to reduce single use plastic. This water station, the first of its kind in North Lincolnshire, offers a fresh water drinking fountain for us and a fresh drinking water bowl for the many dogs that use the park with their owners.

New junior goal posts have also been installed and a link path from the Brigg Road car park into the wider path network has also been completed. A new gate at the Eastfield Road entrance has made accessing the park from the south much easier for those with mobility scooters and parents with pushchairs.

The new phase of the Baysgarth Park

The new phase of the Baysgarth Park development was officially opened by North Lincolnshire Council Leader Cllr Rob Waltham on April 22 with youngsters in attendance from Bowmandale Primary School to test the equipment out. The verdict of the young testers – it is brilliant!!

Cllr Watham was particularly impressed by the water refill stations and was overheard saying that they would work well in other North Lincolnshire facilities. As always Barton leads the way with new ideas!

Chair of Friends of Barton Parks Cllr Paul Vickers was delighted with the result. '

"The Friends of Barton Parks has worked closely with North Lincolnshire Council to make this idea a reality. We really hope that people will embrace the gym and use this free facility. There is no membership fee, just turn up and have a go. Thanks must go to Able UK for such a large investment in the project funding 90% of the Town Council updates

Barton Town Council is pleased to support the setting up of a new town market, organised by North Lincolnshire Council, with a view to transitioning over to the Town Council for future management.

The Food Fest Market was really well attended and so North Lincolnshire Council has agreed to continue with a general market starting on Saturday May 7. There will be no market in June as this is the lubilee Weekend but it will then be held on the first Saturday in the month from July onwards. At this point it had been agreed to transition the management to the Town Council to continue with a monthly market. There is still lots of planning to do and of course the Council appreciates any comments via email or on the

This is the first of what is likely to become a long series of articles about increasing Barton's protection from the risk of tidal flooding.

Historically everything south of the railway line was considered unlikely to flood, but things have changed. Many will recall the floods of 2013 when an exceptional set of circumstances, including high spring tides and strong winds, saw a tidal surge swamp South Ferriby and Barrow Haven. Barton was more fortunate due to the existing defences which successfully protected most of the town. But people reported that the water level was within a couple of inches of the top of the bank around the Haven, and nine properties along Far Ings Road and the Claypits were flooded. The effects of climate change mean that sea levels are expected to rise and increase the likelihood of flooding in the medium to

As part of the overall Humber Strategy the Environment Agency (EA) is now looking at a new scheme for Barton to New Holland which will further reduce the probability of tidal flooding. This is in the very early stages and, although we are optimistic a scheme oversee the planning stages of the will be built, this is not yet certain. The process for designing a scheme is complex and many factors need to be taken into consideration. Funding and engineering are obvious ones, but the from the local authority, drainage alignment of the scheme is important to minimise the impact on ecology. Wildlife is diverse along the Humber which is a SSSI, and the historic environment is fundamental to Barton's character. It is hoped that the scheme will be sustainable and adaptable to cope with the increasing risks caused by the Climate Emergency in coming years. The scheme will not directly address surface water flooding, but will take care not to make this worse and where ever possible will include mitigation against this. The EA hopes that plans will be finalised by late 2024 with work hoped to start in 2025 on a multimillion pound scheme. Before then there is a lot of work to do. A series

During 2022 we will be focusing on understanding the key issues regarding funding options, engineering considerations, ecology and the historic environment. I will keep you up to date with my thoughts on each one. Once we have looked at these the group should be in a good position to contribute to the business case which is a key milestone in the project.

I am sure you may have many guestions about the scheme and I will do my best to answer them. My contact details are on the town website www. bartontowncouncil.org.uk. If I do not know the answers, I shall do my best to find someone who can help.

Cllr Carol Thornton

Could Barton be more accommodating?!

As Barton Tourism Partnership and many local organisations and businesses work to encourage more tourists to Barton the common observation is often made 'why do we have so little accommodation in Barton?'

Barton certainly has some lovely establishments that book out rooms to visitors such as The George Inn featured on this page and the popular Barton Guest House. But add up the number of rooms available and you will struggle to find more than 20. Yes, a hotel would be the answer but in the short term is there something else that could be

Barton Bike Night Rhubarb Time! Coming home to Far Ings

And suddenly, it's that time of year again. Bike Night is nearly upon us, and once more, the streets of Barton will thrill to the sounds of hundreds of motorbikes and host thousands of people.

Bike Night has been a staple part of the activities in Barton for many years and just gets better year on year. If you aren't interested in motorbikes, vou can ioin the people who just come out for the street food and atmosphere. Whether it's vintage and veteran bikes, custom bikes, or the latest stuff off the production lines. there is something for everyone.

Barton Bike Night, this year being held on Saturday, July 9 from 4pm to 9pm, is and always has been a collaboration between organisations in the town. Bike Night is typical of how things are innovated and maintained in Barton.

One guestion that I am often asked is how did such a massive event start in a small place like Barton?

It all started many years ago at the Town Council's Annual Town Meeting.

Nowadays, the annual meeting is a very know what's going on in the area and how they can help shape the future. It was a bit different back then - more akin to bear baiting or a public hanging! Certain characters (some fresh from the pub) would turn up and persecute local officials, complain about the state of the place and generally cause as much disruption as possible. If you weren't one of the officials on the stage, it was hugely entertaining.

This particular meeting had been reasonably civilised primarily because of the Chairmanship of Councillor Wendy Witter, the Mayor at the time and a very dignified ladv.

At the meeting's end, the Mayor asked if anyone had ideas that might improve the town. A voice from the audience piped up, "Brigg has got a bike night. Barton should have a Bike Night". The voice was "Mally" Bennett's, the local cafes, food outlets and local businesses. garage owner of British and Continental that all support the event.

Cars on Brigg Road. Mrs Witter smiled Barton Rotary, Barton Lions and Barrow civilised affair where the public gets to down and said. "Thank you, Mr Bennett Rotary, and local residents are again - that's an excellent idea, and if the marshalling with professional cover Council can help you in any way, please supplied by TSS Events of Lincoln. let us know." Mally looked like a rabbit caught in the headlights - he had raised the idea but hadn't planned on being made responsible for the event. And that is how it started. Mally and the Barton Lions pulled together the first Bike Night with backing from the Town Council and an army of volunteers, and it has grown vear on year ever since.

As always, this year sees the entire town centre closed off and filled with bikes. street food and entertainment.

Bike Night is supported by the Town Council and main sponsors Wren Kitchens, You can look forward to a Keigar Homes and Hudgell Solicitors, as well as commercial sponsorship from Paul Fox Estate Agent. Huteson Funeral Directors & Spicers Auctioneers along enjoy this free community event with Barton Town Football Club, the pubs, run by volunteers.

Cottage Lane car park is the area for many trade stands with others around the streets selling and showing motorcycle related products.

Queen Street will host the very popular show of Classic and Vintage bikes that attracts many visitors, both young and old. North Lincolnshire Council's Mayor and the Town Mayor will be attending, judging and presenting certificates for Best Custom, Vintage and Classic Bikes

As mentioned in the March edition of the Bartonian, it is truly an open competition, so anyone can enter. The show itself will be opened at 2.30 pm by Doug Stewart of Radio Humberside after the judging is completed in the morning.

The history of some of the 23 cups awarded each year at the show is a bit of a mystery. For some we know the back ground story but for others no information apart from the name. We have the Vera Hall Cup for Most Points in the Show, the WGA Hall Cup for Most Points in Vegetables. but know nothing of the background. com

May also sees the launch of our new Similarly who was J Webster who gave a cup for Most Points in Roses and Mrs Lena James for Most Points in Cookery for the under 16s?

We also have the Barton on Humber Agricultural Society Cup which is decorated with small shields with the names of the winners until 1964 - was that their last show? Winners came from far and wide - Sheffield, Selby, Cottingham, Knottingley, Doncaster, Hull, so the show must have been of some standing in the region. The winner in 1957 was RT Batty from South Milford. A guick internet search reveals that there is still a working farm of that name

It seems from the old Allotment Society minute books that there were three shows in Barton during the year. In March 1950 the Committee agreed to change the date of the allotment show and advise the Barton and District Horticultural Society of that change. In May 1950 the Allotment Committee agreed to take an advert for their show in the Barton on Humber Agricultural Show and Gymkhana Society programme. Nothing more is known about these organisations or their activities, but like many would be fascinated to know more. So, if you have any more information or photographs you could lend for our web site to complete the history of these cups. please do get in touch. A full list of the cups awarded is in the schedule on the website.

The migrant birds have been returning to Far Ings over the last few

Sadly these icons of our summer skies are in decline and both swifts and martins are now listed as 'of conservation concern'. Swifts need access to holes in the roofs of buildings for nesting and modern buildings often give them no access. Swallows and house martins build their mud nests under the eaves of of time here and are the first to buildings or in the corners of barns

Some of the historic buildings in Barton provide opportunities for swifts, swallows and martins to nest and the swifts can often be seen and heard above the town. There are also things we can do to help reverse the decline of these lovely birds. The Wildlife Trusts have produced a booklet with many helpful ideas such as nutting up specialist nesting boxes, incorporating swift nesting bricks into buildings, creating mini ponds and growing plants in our gardens that are good for insects.

The Michael Caine/Get Carter Chair Comes to Barton

Sir Michael Caine had decided to downsize from his mansion and this involved disposing of many much-loved artefacts.

Included in the tantalising and valuable memorabilia placed for auction at Bonhams was the very seat allocated to Caine in 1970 during the three months it took to film Ted Lewis's Get Carter. Barton graphic artist, Edward (Ted) Lewis wrote the novel during his time managing graphics on the Beatles' Yellow Submarine and sold the film rights for £145,000 at today's prices. It was only his second book.

BARTONIAN (S)

From small beginnings in 1997 with a handful of performances to augment the hugely successful open art exhibition, Art at St. Peter's, the Barton Arts Festival has evolved into a 10-day festival celebrating culture in all its guises and bringing top names in arts and entertainment to venues around the town.

favourite shows and memories of performers who are sadly no longer with us such as the wonderful Humphry Lyttleton and the hilarious Barry Crier. People have been amazed over the years that they have been able to walk down the street to St Mary's Church to enjoy the music of the Black Dyke Brass Band, the Grimethorpe Colliery Band, The London Community Gospel Choir and Clare Teal.

Michael Morpurgo has read War Horse, and Kiki Dee and Jacqui Dankworth have performed at Joseph Wright Hall while across Queen Street at the Assembly Rooms top comedians like Alan Carr, Michael McIntyre and Dara O'Brien have made us chuckle.

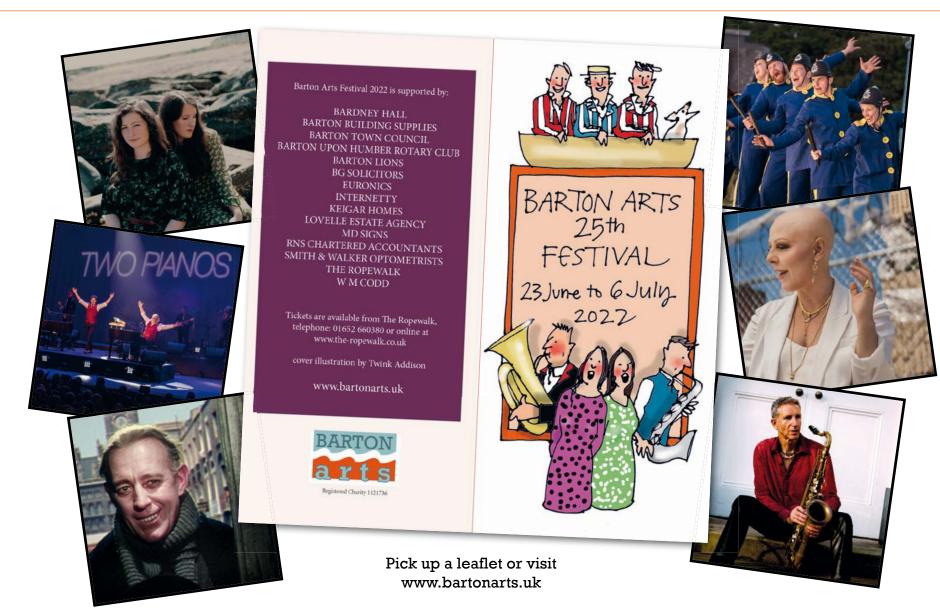

The Ropewalk has hosted theatre, music and comedy including Mark Steel, Susan Calman, Josh Widdicombe, John Hegley, Phill Jupitas, Neil Innes, Vin Garbutt and Richard Digence to name but a few.

The organising committee all have The superb Illyria Theatre company celebrating its 30th year of touring this year has been with us at every step with a memorable Macbeth on Baysgarth School field in the mist starting the long relationship between Barton and outdoor Shakespeare along with the company's Gilbert and Sullivan productions.

> This year well the highlight for many will be a special performance by The Unthanks in St Mary's Church on Saturday, June 25 but there is a lot to choose from including theatre both indoors and out, Barton's Community Band joining forces with sax maestro Snake Davis, and the return of Open Gardens.

> You can make up your own mind and add to your memories by picking up a brochure and purchasing some tickets from The Ropewalk or from www.bartonarts.uk

Barton Town Football Club

Barton Town Football Club is fast approaching the end of the 2021/22 season, the first full season of football in two years following the COVID-19 pandemic.

The season has been the most successful in years, with a 7th place finish in the NCEL Premier Division, a record FA Vase run, reaching the Third Round, and a place in the NCEL League Cup final. It's also been a record year for attendances, with over 6,000 people coming through the turnstiles at the Easy Buy Stadium this season to watch games.

The final few games have been a mixed bag for the Swans. March began with a 3-0 defeat to league champions Grimsby Borough. It was followed up by a 3-1 win at Handsworth, with goals from Jack Tanser, Harrison Coley, and Ben Hinchliffe. Another derby defeat followed in the form of a 4-0 home loss to Winterton Rangers.

Two wins in a row over Thackley (1-0), and Albion Sports (2-0) followed before yet another derby defeat at Bottesford Town with a 1-0 loss. March ended with a 1-0 win over Thackley in the NCEL League Cup quarter final with Tom Waudby's goal enough to seal it.

April saw the Swans lose Knaresborough in our final away day of the season, with a 2-1 win over Maltby Main, a creditable 1-1 draw Walking Football is a slower-paced version of the beautiful game. The game was initially designed to help get over '50s back into football and increase physical activity by rekindling players' love for the game. Walking football rules have been adapted so there is no running, minimal contact, and has kick-ins instead of throw-ins. This format provides less stress on the body. With no sudden change of direction or cutting movements, the game allows participants to play without apprehension and at their own pace.

Barton United JFC support for Ukraine crisis

The world was shaken with the news of the war breaking out in Ukraine. We saw on the news how families have been devastated, with refugees fleeing the country for safety leaving many essential items behind. As a club we recognised the desperation of the situation and wanted to help in any way we could.

Organisers at Barton United JFC asked for and collected donations for the Ukraine Appeal throughout the club, bringing it altogether at one of our Sunday Sessions to send it on its way to the people who need it most. In recognising that children of their own age were affected by the crisis our own players were very keen to support the appeal.

Warm clothing, first aid items, blankets and sleeping bags were among the items donated.

We are very grateful for all the donations we received and hope that this will make a real difference to people affected by the crisis.

Barton Town Cricket Club

Following the most successful season on the pitch for many years, having come away with a league title and two cup wins, Barton Town Cricket Club's executive committee set about preparing the club for the upcoming 2022 season.

With an ever-growing junior set up which now attracts over 75 children every Friday down at its home on Marsh Lane, the Club was in desperate need of a purpose built Junior/Female changing facility providing somewhere for the upcoming stars of the future to change and get showered after a game.

Club Secretary Oliver Mussett managed to secure a grant for £5,000 from the Bank's Community Fund to refurbish an old storeroom and toilet within the current changing room block and transform it into a modern changing room for the female and junior members of the Club. The work was undertaken by volunteers at the Club, along with help from various tradesman well known to the Club.

At the time of writing the work has now been completed and an official opening is being planned in the coming weeks.

Work has also continued on the wider ground, with various works carried out on the outfield and cricketing square. As a club with big ambitions and not looking to stand still, preliminary work has now begun on sourcing funding for a new state of the art artificial net facility at the Club.

Oliver added: "Our current net facility is no longer fit for purpose and has been outgrown by the sheer increase in our Junior and Senior cricketer numbers, and we need to look to secure funding to allow us to build new net facilities to help meet the needs of our growing membership".

51 Fleetgate Restoration

Many of you will remember Fred Clipson's shop at 51 Fleetgate up to the late 1980s and some of you will have visited it as a heritage venue until conservation problems forced closure.

Humber's history from at least the Corner on the edge of Lincoln 51 Fleetgate by supplementing their beginning of the 16th century, as bearing express and mail coaches. shown by the dating of the historic The location of the station gave timbers in the rear frame of the Fleetgate a further lease of life building. The plot may be part of a when the railway displaced the much older Fleetgate area layout. Since then, like most buildings, it has adapted through time to suit its

That is what makes 51 Fleetgate an exciting project that can inform local people of their shared history and offer a venue for specialist group activities and personal development. The timeline can be illustrated by walkthrough exhibitions, perhaps starting with the barber's shop in the front and moving back in time through the rest of the building. The garden to the rear can offer the additional local amenity of a tranguil oasis and who knows what earlier history may lie beneath? The shop front will be brought back to life in a street where retail is in retreat, improving both the quality of the environment and local regeneration through tourism.

Fleetgate was on the route of the toll road from the ferry terminal at Barton ferries. Oral history of the 1930s informs us that dwellers west of Barton needed go no further into town than Fleetgate for their requirements.

Conservation and restoration of 51 Fleetgate represents a significant challenge because of the nature of its construction, the changes that have been made over time and the impact that will be made by visitors in the future. 51 Fleetgate cannot be a fully open building without putting those historic features at risk, but it can be a venue for guided tours of accompanied small groups.

51 Fleetgate is currently leased to CHAMP (Community Heritage Arts and Media Project), a registered charity that also manages the Assembly Rooms and, more important for this project, the hub in Maltby Lane. Having that other site within walking distance will help CHAMP to overcome the difficult

Training in curatorial skills, oral history temporary exhibition research writing and reminiscence wi deliver development of personal skill sets. Hosting visits and managin exhibitions at 51 Fleetgate wi require a vibrant team of volunteers who will benefit from participating in this worthwhile heritage project and augment their conservation and life skills through training.

Progress on Dilapidated Buildings and speed limits

The Civic Society has been championing the buildings of Barton since it was formed over 50 years ago.

The aim of the working group is to quality of life in this area. get action taken to improve some of the unloved buildings of the town.

A planning application has gone in to convert the first floor of Oddfellows Hall on the corner of Oueen Street and High Street into five flats. The owner has been asked to improve the appearance of the windows due to start shortly on converting the old Oxford Cinema on Newport to flats and plans are being prepared for scaffolding at the Old Mill to repair the mill cap in situ.

A schedule of required work has been drawn up by NLC for 51 Fleetgate and funding is now being sought to get the work done. Work on Eagle House, also on Fleetgate, is slow, but going in the right direction. The owner has been asked to clean up the area at the front of the building. Sad to say there is no progress on the empty house at 74 Butts Rd or the Assembly Rooms, although the Town Council has agreed to get quotes to draw up a schedule of required work

Vera Lenham - a Hull Evacuee

The Ropewalk's Liz Bennet learned about Vera (née Lenham) Drewery's wartime evacuation to Barton through a mutual friend and asked Nigel Land of the town's Civic Society to record her story that will appear in full in the next Civic Society Newsletter.

Through this introduction it would any information they have about this period in Barton and especially any that involves evacuees as it would seem that this part of the town's history has not yet been

Evacuation plans were in place in Hull from the first year of the war but uptake was very slow to start and it was not until the major raids in early May 1941, when hundreds of fires followed heavy bombing, that major relocation took place. Vera's family lived close to the Docks and after the major damage from the first air raids in 1940, a start was made on evacuating children from the city. Over the whole war a total of 38,000 f the country. After the May 1941 blitz Vera's sister was dispatched to Brigg and Vera was initially sent home. Her father brought her back be good to gather from readers after just one week as Preston was no safer. Her mother's sister. Doris Wright and husband Stan, lived on Castledyke, Barton. Quite close, but not on the bombing runs and she was evacuated to Barton with her mother and young brother. Here they lived in one of the cottages on Barraclough Lane (since demolished). They could not get to the New Holland ferry and so the move entailed a long bus ride via Howden and Scunthorpe.

> Vera attended County School during her years on the south bank and remembers Mr Taylor, the Head. She has fond memories of the school and also of St Chad's Sunday school and made lots of friends, including Betty Clegg and Phyllis Gadie, who lived just down the road at the Point. Like many of her contemporaries she pictures were always available for entertainment, of course, in those pre-television days, with the Star and Oxford cinemas both open for business. At home there was the radio and Vera recalls Dick Barton, Special Agent and Paul Temple.

Children spent a lot of time outside, of course and as there was land meeting Lady Baden-Powell during behind the cottage her father set to Preston, just to the east of their a visit she made to Barton. The up chicken and rabbit enclosures.

Working in Hull he only visited occasionally, so it was up to Vera to forage for rabbit food. She also used to collect rosehips when in season in a basket and take them to school. While it was a dreadful time for adults, who could see Hull burning iust across the Humber. Vera recalls how she and her friends 'took things. in their stride' and made the most of it. Life in Barton continued until after

V-E Day when all evacuees returned home. The photograph will be known to many readers and was taken on Far Ings Road. Vera is on the back row, 6th from the left in a white

During my visit I gave Vera a copy of 'A Doctor's War -Tom Kirk's Diaries'. This book is quite astonishing in the way it describes the work of a GP during wartime. Vera remembers Dr Ethel Kirk and I am sure she will enjoy reading about the couple's wartime work. For readers who have not seen it, do get a copy from The Ronewalk or from Wilderspin School - excellent value at just £10.

If anyone has memories of wartime evacuees to Barton Nigel would be delighted to hear from

Katie Brooks Fitness

BARTON Buy Local

Katie Brooks has been creating dances since the mid 1980s, moving on from TOTP in her parents' lounge to being a club rep in the 1990s.

This turned into dancing in gyms in Nottingham where she attended classes and thought, "I could do that". Motivated to be as good as she could and to make the music stand out, Katie attended conventions to hone her craft and children are focused on Katie's working at a gym, before and after her next move at the front, gradually main job in a bank. After some years recognising each reggaeton song with of working 6am to 9pm, the work at the bank gave way to full-time fitness, not forgetting the music, which she describes as meaning everything to leaving everything else that might have been on your mind, at the door. It's loud music, high energy and fun. Every Wednesday night, forty women pauses to get a drink at the side.

What you wear does not matter and if you go left when you were meant to go right, that just makes it more amusing. You can go into the class feeling low, thinking about something that happened in the day or wondering about tomorrow but as soon as Katie starts and shouts, "Wakey Wakey", you are only in that gymnasium. It's an hour in your body and out of your head, which is worth its weight in gold. Katie starts with the music to choreograph 50 per cent of the routines herself. She emphasises that there is no perfect technique to learn. Instead, Katie tries to get people to dance how they feel to the music. The people who attend the classes set their own pace, if they are not feeling

To do a Zumba class with Katie involves 100 per cent, they can walk along to the music. Equally, those who want to push up the calories burned, can jump and squat on every step. With a unique view at the front, Katie says she enjoys watching all different age groups moving together, from age three to 63 as well as parents and children who attend together. In the past decade she has led classes that have included an 86-year-old and a person who was deaf and blind and used the vibrations in the floor to move to the beat. The council at Derbyshire made grants available to keep people fit and Katie recalls memorable classes teaching a group of builders and hairdressers how to stretch and tone. During the Covid lockdown she moved the classes into her garage, hosting via her phone propped up on a pushchair hood! Katie refers to these classes as a little lockdown community that kept everyone's morale up. Once the restrictions began to lift, the classes moved outside with limited numbers, chalk used to draw out the distance between each person. The classes continued out there through hot sun, restrictions, the classes have been hailstones and with the company of gnats. As a sign of their gratitude and Zumba with add-ons such as and a testimony to how needed the classes were, everyone who had enjoyed Katie's online classes clubbed ogether to surprise her with an Apple Watch and hamper. With no pandemic

Pamela Mary Chapman

Ebullient, optimistic, gregarious and enthusiastic, Pam Chapman, will be sorely missed in Barton by many whose lives she touched so warmly.

It was in the USA, however, that she was born on January 18, 1930. With mother, Dora, and brother, Joshua (Sonny), she later came to live in Saxby all Saints, attending Brigg High School. Positive at school, she also knew her mind in relationships, securing the notice of a local farm manager's son at the age of fifteen by means of an unusually precocious, and later family legend, wolf whistle. That young man, Bob Chapman, became the enduring love of her

Pam Chapman was a natural teacher and so followed her calling at Lincoln Training College between 1948 and 1950, immediately becoming a reception teacher at Brigg Infant School upon qualification. Bob, also a talented lifelong and well-respected teacher, married Pam on April 6,1953 after which she taught infants at South Ferriby School from 1954 to 1958 where her kindness and skill are well remembered to this day.

On April 25, 1961, daughter, Annie, was born but Pam did not immediately return to her beloved career until 1964 when she became a well-loved remedial teacher at Barton's Beretun Secondary School and later at Goxhill. She finally taught at Barton County School, retiring in 1985 aged fifty-five.

A born organiser, Pam Chapman was a founder member of the Barton Ladies Luncheon Club, enjoying organising and fellowship in equal

She became an active member of the Women's Institute and Trinity Methodist Church Women's Guild. She was Chair of the Tufty Road Safety Club for toddlers from 1963 to 1970. But there was also time for fun, for she and Bob's community service and activities, meant they enjoyed a wide circle of friends whom they often entertained with enthusiasm. She was always on hand to help others and provided direct support to other neighbours and friends.

Daughter, Annie, had moved to Tenerife to follow the family tradition, teaching English. It was a joy for Pam and Bob to take regular trips to the island and revel in its life, sight and sounds as well as the company of Annie, Raul and grandson, Joshua. The family also often forgathered in Pam and Bob's home and the family was a rock for Joshua when he later trained as an actor and journalist in the UK.

Although there were a host of good times, Pam Chapman had steely strength in the face of adversity. Her brother tragically died at the age of twenty and her beloved husband suffered cruelly from dementia in later life. Their joint activities severely curtailed, she nursed Bob at home until he needed professional residential care. Characteristically she still drove her car until she was 90.

Pam Chapman stoically suffered disabilities of late and died after a short illness on March 6, 2022, still in possession of her Training College blazer, the mark of a teacher with a true vocation. Her full and creative life was celebrated at Trinity Methodist Church, one day short of her and Bob's 69th wedding anniversary.

Pamela Mary Chapman is survived by her daughter, Annie Chapman and also her grandson, Joshua Gorrono Chapman, who delivered the eulogy at the Memorial Service.

Live life well!

New activities encourage us all to live life well!

The remit of the Living Later Life Well project is to support older, isolated people in our community to do what it says on the tin - live their later lives well! Some people are craving social interaction, others want a new hobby...for many, the four walls of their home have become very boring but they have lost their confidence.

With the support of our volunteers, we have delivered more than 60 sessions since the project took on a new manager in August 2021. Alongside weekly sessions from chair-based exercise to coffee mornings, we are planning a fortnightly pottery group, monthly music performances and group workshops, and bi-monthly regional coach trips.

Our friendly table tennis sessions are a great opportunity to meet others and enjoy some exercise and a laugh. Whether you've played before or you're a complete beginner, new faces are very welcome! Simply turn up to Trinity Methodist Church on Wednesdays, 1.30pm - 2.30pm to join in and enjoy some refreshments, no

We are always on the lookout for new volunteers to join our ranks! We'd like to hear from people with a few hours to spare who want to support our sessions, or perhaps you'd like to lead a workshop or demonstration on your passion? We also plan to develop a befriending offer of phone calls/in person meet-ups soon for people who are very isolated and/or housebound, so there are several ways to get involved.

Our monthly newsletter is available via email, on our Facebook page and website, or collected from Trinity Methodist Church and various other venues around Barton. For people who are unable to get out, a copy can be posted if requested.

Barton RiverCare Volunteers Make Surprising Discovery

Barton RiverCare and Scunthorpe Litter Pickers joined forces and made an incredible discovery during their Keep Britain Tidy's Great British Spring Clean campaign river clean along the foreshore at South Ferriby... a message in a bottle!

In August 1966 Jennifer Coleman from Grantham left a note in the bottle, hoping to be contacted by "a boy over 16 and under 18". Fifty six years later, the bottle was found by Tracey Marshall and her daughter Charlotte who picked up a number of Bottol bottles. This particular bottle nearly ended up in the rubbish bag but Tracey's daughter saw a cork in the bottle and on closer inspection they saw paper inside.

Jennifer now resides in Australia, and will be turning 70 this year. She said, "I had completely forgotten about the message in the bottle and it is in such good condition after half a century, unbelievable

"My mother grew up in Horkstow and her mother lived in Ferriby until she passed away. I had relations in Horkstow, South Ferriby, Barton, Brigg and Scunthorpe.

We spent many happy times in the area, going to Cleethorpes in the summer."

Tracey has been in touch with Jennifer and plans to return the letter to her. A lovely story made possible by amazing #LitterHeroes!

Barton RiverCare is supported by Keep Britain Tidy in partnership with Anglian Water, and are organising its next river clean for Saturday June 18, in Barrow-upon-Humber. Everyone is welcome, including families, and all equipment is provided for free. For more information - please visit the Barton RiverCare Facebook group, or email anp5@
